JULIA GABRIEL SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Julia Gabriel Centre for Learning started in 1981 in an attic in England where my children and I began learning through drama. To this day I believe that I learned far more than they did! My own children and students have always been my best teachers. Almost 20 years later, a dedicated team of specialist educators established Julia Gabriel School of Education (JGSOE) with me, to raise awareness of the way in which children learn naturally, develop optimally and become confident self-leaders.

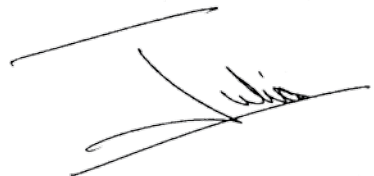

What do artists, performers, innovative entrepreneurs, many Nobel Laureates, well-adjusted children and happy families have in common? They play enthusiastically throughout life! Conversely, the common factor shared by depressed teenagers, stressed adults, caged animals, and child-abusers is that play is a missing element in their lives. Play is a profoundly important part of our lives, especially in work-obsessed societies.

Broad based research and scientific knowledge clearly explain the value of play to a future in which our children will need to be more creative, collaborative, communicative and flexible. Drama is a natural extension of children's dramatic play, that's why we make sure that EduDrama methodology runs through all our programmes, for children and adults.

The move from drama with children to facilitating adults through JGSOE came about at the request of parents and teachers, who wanted to encourage learning and enjoy teaching through play, drama and the arts.

We don't know what the world will be like when our children grow up; but we do know that if they engage in play, drama or the arts, their autonomous thinking, problem solving and adaptive abilities will serve them well to make and communicate healthy choices, as self-leaders.

At JGSOE, we play and enjoy learning. Join us to discover the child that lives in all of us.

Trinity Guildhall

Trinity Guildhall is an integration of two illustrious traditions of assessment in performance arts: Trinity College London and the Guildhall School of Music and Drama, owned by the Corporation of London.

Committed to encouraging high standards of human interaction, performance and education, Trinity Guildhall's examination syllabus provides structure for learning and international validation of standards of attainment for teachers, performers, speakers and students of communication skills and performance arts.

Julia Gabriel M.Ed, Hon GSM, LGSM, LLCM(TD) is a Trinity Guildhall examiner in Drama, Speech and Communication Skills.

The Trinity Guildhall Foundation Teaching Certificate in Speech and Drama (Cert TCL (FT)) is a foundation-level teaching qualification for teachers of Speech and Drama, working with children up to 8 years old. It is validated and awarded by Trinity College London.

This is an intensive, part-time training programme for adults who want to introduce Speech and Drama to children aged 3 to 8, providing support for novice and student teachers in the classroom whilst they learn.

Course Content

- Using language: Poetry, prose and stories
- Teaching: Methodologies and classroom management
- Drama in the classroom
- Devising and telling stories
- Characterisation and working with narrative prose
- Working with children with additional needs
- Parents as partners
- Preparing students for assessment
- In addition, students take part in:
 - Practical teaching / supervised teaching
 - Individual clinics

Examination

At the end of the course, students are assessed on their core skills by an examiner from Trinity Guildhall.

Trinity Guildhall Cert TCL (FT) is evidence that the teacher has:

- Acquired and can demonstrate performance skills at an appropriate level in Speech and Drama;
- Completed a course of study to prepare a teaching programme in Speech and Drama for children aged up to 8 years in a given setting;
- Reflected upon its effectiveness under the guidance of a suitably qualified Trinity Guildhall teacher;
- Successfully entered candidates for assessment/examination in Speech and Drama at an appropriate level.

Prerequisites for the course are:

- Minimum age 18 years at the date of registration
- Candidates must be speakers of clear, fluent, regionally appropriate Standard English.
- Certificate or Diploma in preschool teaching or early childhood education. Those without early childhood entry requirements or relevant experience must attend our Child Development and Learning module - 'A Child's World'.
